A4 labels for laser, inkjet and copier machines

FAST FACTS

- > Print quality with home inkjet/colour laser printers is now excellent
- > Home offices are driving strong stationery sales
- > Digital photography requires more photo-quality media
- > High end labels are more in demand: coloured, radiants and filmic
- > Avery Dennison offers a comprehensive portfolio for A4 labels

APPLICATION AREAS

Demand from home office users for high quality print media has expanded dramatically, and is continuing to rise. This is being driven by the widespread availability of very high quality printers, and by the increase in the number of individuals working from home.

Many different home, home office and hobby applications now require print media with the best possible print quality, as well as the right facestock and adhesive properties. Avery Dennison offers the range of products needed to meet virtually any product specification:

- > Conventional address labels in various qualities
- > Overlabelling of documents
- > Color-coded lever arch file labels
- > Promotional labels
- > Media labels for CDs and DVDs
- > Tracking labels
- > Retail labels, printed in store
